THE GREAT GLOBAL WARMING SWINDLE

Nick Griffin on the Climate Change Hoax

THE ESTABLISHMENT have forced the global warming agenda upon the British public. Tory and Labour politicians alike are committed to 'climate change' policy without even allowing for rational debate on the issue.

Gordon Brown has already committed £1.5 billion to 'aid in the fight against climate change'. This money will come out of your taxes - you will foot the bill.

Money is what the global warming scare is all about. This is another tax scam, a way to milk the public for every penny.

What's more anyone that speaks out against global warming or dares to question the Establishment's global warming doctrine is treated as a heretic.

Just like those in the middle ages who dared to argue that the world was round and not flat, those who call for real debate on the global warming issue are silenced by the ruling elite.

The British National Party will not be silenced. Unlike the climate change fanatics, we will open up debate and present you with genuine facts. This government has a track record of lying to the public to fulfill its own private agenda. They lied to invade Iraq, now they're lying to rip you off and over tax you.

Miliband Bans Envoys Helping BNP

David Miliband has secretly banned British embassy staff from giving help to BNP MEPs.

A letter, entitled 'Handling Extremist MEPs' and marked 'Restricted', was circulated to the heads of Britain's European embassies after Nick Griffin and Andrew Brons were elected to the European Parliament in June.

Written by Matthew Rycroft, the UK's top European Union diplomat, it says BNP MEPs, like other British members of the European Parliament, can be sent 'factual written briefings' on policy issues but nothing else.

The letter adds that other Government offices have also been advised to restrict help.

This is another example of undemocratic and underhand by the Labour party.

Primary School Cancels Nativity For Eid

A PRIMARY school infuriated parents after cancelling the traditional Christmas nativity play to make way for the Muslim festival of Eid.

Parents at the Nottingham school were told that the planned performance had to be pulled because some of the pupils wanted to celebrate Eid at home with their families.

In a letter, sent by the staff at Greenwood Junior School, mothers and fathers were told: "It is with much regret that we have had to cancel this year's Christmas performances."

The BNP says this is a Christian country, our traditions should be put first and not sidelined in favour of foreign cultures. The BNP would ensure British schools focus on our Christian heritage.

GLOBAL WARMING: A HOAX

LAST MONTH I attended a hearing in the European Parliament's plenary chamber addressed by the former Beatle and now 'climate change activist', Sir Paul McCartney.

Entitled "Global Warming and Food Policy: Less Meat = Less Heat", the hearing was chaired by Vice-President Edward McMillan-Scott and the opening speech was delivered by none other than the Parliament's President, Jerzy Buzek.

Paul McCartney made a presentation to the hearing along with Dr Rajendra Pachauri, the Chairman of the United Nations Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change urged legislators and experts to focus on what an individual can do to fight climate change, for example by eating less meat.

I wanted to voice my concern that two self-declared vegetarians, who have a prejudice against the eating of meat, were being given preferential treatment to peddle their propaganda in the European Parliament, yet independent scientists who hold an opposing viewpoint are not allowed the same facility.

Unfortunately no questions were allowed from the floor, however I did get the opportunity to give my thoughts to a group of journalists after the event.

Claiming that eating less meat will help save the planet is dangerous nonsense. This sort of propaganda is being pushed in our schools using the celebrity status of Paul McCartney to influence children.

Children are told that if they stop eating meat they can save polar bears from drowning in the Arctic Circle - this is just playing on the emotions of the young and the vulnerable.

The "Less Meat = Less Heat" campaign is just more global warming nonsense based on groundless theories and should be treated with the contempt it deserves.

GLOBAL WARMING - THE FACTS THEY DON'T WANT YOU TO KNOW

- 1) Britain is one degree Celsius cooler now than it was at the time of the Domesday book.
- 2) Greenland got its name from the verdant pastures that attracted the Norse settlers under Eric the Red in 986. They carried on their normal way of life (based on cattle, grain, hay and herring fishing) for 300 years until the Little Ice Age, when they were driven off by the encroaching ice and the Inuit took over. The ice and the Inuit are still there.
- 3) The ice caps are not melting. Side-looking radar measurements show West Antarctica's ice is - increasing at 26.8 gigatons/yr. Reversing the melting trend of the last 6000 years.

- 4) Carbon dioxide is a minor greenhouse gas. In the atmosphere there is over a hundred times the concentration of water vapour, which is the dominant greenhouse gas. Without the Greenhouse Effect there would be no life on Earth.
- 5) The single factor that can alter the earth's climate is the sun.
- 6) Temperature measurements by satellite, radio sonde balloons and well maintained rural surface stations in the West show no significant warming.

- 7) The evidence of significant warming comes from surface stations that are affected by a variety of factors that contaminate the data.
- 8) Computer models of the climate are worthless, as they are based on many assumptions about interactions between climate factors that are still unknown to science. They are generally unstable and chaotic, giving a wide variety of answers depending on the input assumptions.
- 9) The IPCC (the UN Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change) has been the main - engine for promoting the global warming scare. It has become notorious for its corrupt practices of doctoring reports to conform to its political objectives and destroying and deleting evidence that proves global warming is simply a myth.

- 10) The biggest lie about man-made global warming is that almost all scientists accept it. More than 4,000 scientists from 106 countries, including 72 Nobel prize winners, signed the Heidelberg Appeal (1992), calling for a rational scientific approach to environmental problems.

LABOUR PLANNED THE EXTINCTION OF NATIVE BRITS

FOR YEARS the British National Party has argued that the tidal wave of migration into Britain over the last decade could only have been engineered by a deliberate conspiracy at the heart of the Establishment.

But in the absence of any direct evidence of a plot by Labour ministers to destroy the British way of life, many of those who oppose mass immigration continued to subscribe to the "cock-up" theory that the Labour Government had merely failed to control immigration effectively.

Now evidence of a dark conspiracy has emerged in the form of a confession from Andrew Neather, a former advisor to Tony Blair, Jack Straw and David Blunkett.

Neather has been quoted in the Evening Standard as admitting that the policy of mass immigration was designed as part a "politically motivated attempt by ministers to radically change the country" and "rub the Right's nose in diversity".

This plot to "open up the UK to mass migration" was, according to Neather, kept secret because Labour ministers feared that any publicity would alienate white working-class voters.

Apparently the "major shift" in immigration policy followed the publication of a 2001 policy paper from the "Performance and Innovation Unit", a Downing Street think tank.

The final published version of the report promoted only the labour market "case" for immigration, but unpublished versions contained additional reasons.

Neather wrote: "Earlier drafts I saw also included a driving political purpose: that mass immigration was the way that the Government was going to make the UK 'truly multicultural'."

"I remember coming away from some discussions with the clear sense that the policy was intended – even if this wasn't its main purpose – to rub the Right's nose in diversity and render their arguments out of date", said Mr Neather.

The intent of the "deliberate policy", which lasted from late 2000 until "at least February last year", when the new points based system was introduced, was to open up the UK to mass migration, he said.

"Part by accident, part by design, the Government had created its longed-for immigration boom.

"But ministers wouldn't talk about it. In part they probably realised the conservatism of their core voters: while ministers might have been passionately in favour of a more diverse society, it wasn't necessarily a debate they wanted to have in working men's clubs in Sheffield or Sunderland."

Speaking in Essex yesterday, BNP Chairman Nick Griffin drew attention to the wholesale ethnic cleansing of indigenous white British people from their own national capital.

In a crime which far exceeds the Guy Fawkes conspiracy as one of the most heinous in the entire history of these islands, it is now apparent that the Labour Party engineered and facilitated this national catastrophe purely for its own financial gain and narrow political purposes.

In short, Labour gerrymandered London, and large parts of the rest of Britain, in a cynical attempt to undermine traditional British values and replace British voters.

Sir Andrew Green, chairman of the Migrationwatch think tank was quick to appreciate the significance of Mr Neather's confession.

"Now at least the truth is out, and it's dynamite. Many have long suspected that mass immigration under Labour was not just a cock up but also a conspiracy. They were right. This Government has admitted three million immigrants for cynical political reasons concealed by dodgy economic camouflage."

Dame Shirley Porter, the Conservative leader of Westminster Council was once fined more than £27 million for gerrymandering her borough by seeking to change its demographic composition to benefit her party. For gerrymandering an entire country, there is a much more appropriate legal remedy, politically.

The Treason Felony Act 1848, which is still in force, provides that "It is treason felony to 'compass, imagine, invent, devise', or intend to 'move or stir' any foreigner to invade the United Kingdom or any other country belonging to the Queen."

Any Labour minister or advisor, and any civil servant, who collaborated in a secret criminal conspiracy against the indigenous British peoples, richly deserves justice under this statute.

COMMENT

Editor - Mark Collett

One of the sure fire ways to tell if someone is lying, is that when you question their opinion they refuse to debate with you. Rather than arguing against the points you raise they instead throw insults at you. Another tactic is to take the perceived moral high ground by simply declining to hold the debate in the first place. As if the opposing view is so bizarre it does not even require acknowledging. These are the tactics employed by the climate change fanatics.

GLOBAL WARMING 'DENIERS'

Rather than sitting down and opening up rational discussion with those who have a different opinion on global warming, the climate change fanatics have resorted to name calling. Those who don't fall in with their accepted 'logic' are now branded 'deniers'. This term has a very negative connotation and immediately gives the impression to the uninitiated that those who disagree with the climate change lobby do not have a valid opinion but are simply 'denying the truth'.

TELLING A GOOD LIE

Now the thing with a good lie is that people can't easily tell you're lying. When I was trudging through the snow to my ice encrusted car to make my way to work I could tell that something was not quite right. The thermometer in my car read a chilling minus 3.5 degrees. One of the coldest mornings I can remember and definitely one of the coldest winters in decades. This all seems a far cry from the rapidly rising temperatures we're all being told will lead to great global catastrophes.

A PROFITABLE LIE

It might not be a good lie, but it certainly is a profitable one. Governments will raise billions of pounds in revenue and specialist companies and regulatory bodies will spring up overnight to provide very well paid jobs for the right people. Plenty of money all out of our back pockets - and who can argue with it? You wouldn't want to be branded a denier now, would you? What's more anyone who doesn't agree will be branded a cold hearted (no pun intended) anti-environmental neanderthal.

LOVE THE ENVIRONMENT, DON'T LOVE THE LIE

I do love the environment and that's one of the reasons I'm in the British National Party. We're the only true green party. We're against burning up our last reserves of oil and natural gases and we're all for developing new and greener technologies. We want to preserve the rich ecological tapestry of flora and fauna not just in Britain but the world over. What we're not for is perpetuating a lie to milk money out of a guilt ridden public that will simply be wasted on jobs for the boys and foreign aid. The truth is that our environment is under threat - but not from the phantom of man made global warming.

BORIS JOHNSON AIDE JAILED OVER CHILD PORN

A YOUNG Tory has been jailed for six months after he admitted downloading sickening child porn.

Alister Cooling, 27, who writes for the Conservative Home website and campaigned for London Mayor Boris Johnson, owned films featuring girls as young as five being abused.

The pervert, who hoped to be an MP and featured on the BBC reality TV show Castaway, also downloaded a bestiality film.

Cooling appeared at Croydon

Crown Court. Judge Stephen Waller said: "The contents of these images are horrifying. Any right thinking person could not but be repulsed. By downloading this material you give encouragement to people who are filming the abuse and suffering of children."

Cooling at first told police he downloaded the films by accident - but eventually broke down and admitted he was "obsessed". The charges against him included making indecent images and possession of extreme porn. He will serve half his sentence in jail then be freed on licence.

On Castaway two years ago, Cooling, of Croydon, South London, said he would miss his computer most while on the island.

The British National Party is appalled that this sick monster has been jailed for just six months - and will no doubt be back on the streets much sooner. The likes of Cooling deserve much harsher sentences to demonstrate that the abuse of children cannot and will not be tolerated.

FOREIGNERS NOW OWN OVER HALF OF "UK PLC"

The creeping foreign takeover of the British economy has just passed a critical milestone. For the first time in our nation's history, over half of all shares in publicly quoted British companies (plc's) are in foreign hands.

In 1963, when the Office for National Statistics first published these figures, only 7% of shares in all UK companies whose shares were publically traded were owned by non-British people and firms. In 1986, Thatcher's "Big Bang" threw open the Stock Exchange to a flood of international speculators. These speculators were quick to prey on British firms. Within three years, by 1989, the proportion of British shares in foreign hands had shot up to 12.8%. By 1996, it had more than doubled to just under 28%. By the time of the last ONS report, 40% of British firms' shares were owned by foreigners.

Now the 50% mark has been passed. Over half of the shares of all the PLC's incorporated in Britain are no longer held by Britons. The share of foreign ownership - and therefore control - of our economy is increasing every day. This in turn makes further foreign takeovers ever easier. For example the once proudly British family chocolate firm Cadbury is now seriously threatened by a hostile takeover by US-based multinational Krafts because almost half its shares are already owned by Americans, who of course don't care about keeping Cadbury's British!

Foreign control is the more dangerous because ever more of it is exerted not by foreign pension funds, unit trusts and similar institutions, nor even by individual international share speculators, but by foreign governments such as those of the Islamic Gulf and other Arab states and Communist China. They have used the money we Britons have paid them when buying their petrol and their cheap imported goods to build up "sovereign wealth funds" with which to take over our economy. And the economies of other Western nations.

Over two million million pounds

(yes, that's two followed by 12 noughts pounds!) of foreign money has now been sunk into the City of London to buy up the British economy whilst formerly British firms are submerged in global conglomerates, doing most of their business abroad. The UK revenues of non-financial sector of the FTSE 100 - the biggest 100 firms listed on the London Stock Exchange - have dropped from 37.5% of their total business in 2000 to 29.1% last year. Very few genuinely British owned and British based firms are left in the FTSE 100 any more.

This creeping foreign takeover of much of the British economy, and its subordination to the interests of the global market greed machine, and the sinister scheming of Muslim and Oriental Governments, is an inevitable consequence of the swindle of unregulated limited liability shareholding. Ownership and control of the product of British enterprise and hard work can be bought and sold, speculated in a squirreled away abroad by faceless foreign financiers.

We will properly regulate the City and ensure that stocks and shares are traded legitimately, so that the fruit of British labour will be owned and enjoyed by the Britons whose hard work and enterprise created that wealth, not siphoned abroad by foreigners. Under a British National Party government our economy would be in British hands with a mixture of firms of all types to suit the particular needs of individual industries. Not foreign speculators and foreign regimes. Britons work would benefit Britons, not foreigners.

University to Launch Degree in Islamic Banking

SALFORD UNIVERSITY in Greater Manchester is launching a degree course in Islamic banking next year in which students will learn how to invest and lend according to the religion's strict financial principles.

The postgraduate course is being introduced after a surge in demand from high street banks offering Islamic services to Muslim families.

Under Islamic rules, charging and paying interest is viewed as immoral and investments must be made according to strict Islamic principles.

Lecturer Hussein Abdou said: "It's predicted demand for Islamic services will treble in the next few years."

The creeping Islamification of our nation continues. With the Muslim birth rate rising and the number of Islamic immigrants entering the country at an all time high, even more of our institutions and ways of life will be affected.

Only the British National Party has the policies to ensure that our country retains its own culture, heritage and traditions.

Terror Suspects Cleared to Work as Guards

TEN MEMBERS of a suspected Islamist terror cell, said by MI5 to be plotting to blow up a shopping centre and a nightclub in Manchester, had been granted permission by the Home Office to work as security guards.

The Pakistani students were arrested over an alleged plot to bomb Britain. Police believed they had conducted "hostile reconnaissance" of the Arndale and Trafford shopping centres and the Birdcage nightclub.

It has now emerged that in the months before the alleged plot, the men were given licences to work as security guards by the Security Industry Authority, a Home Office body that regulates the private security industry.

Whilst we fight a war in Afghanistan, the real threat to UK safety is living right here.

BRUSSELS SET TO UNLEASH MEGATRUCKS ONTO OUR STREETS

BRUSSELS IS set to overrule the British Government and unleash gigantic 60-ton super-juggernaut lorries upon our streets. A new EU regulation is currently advancing inexorably through the Brussels bureaucracy which will allow onto British roads giant trucks a third longer and heavier than anything our country has seen.

Currently, the biggest lorries allowed on our roads can be no longer than 61 feet long, and weigh no more than 44 tons. Under the new EU regulation, this limit will rise to 83 feet long and 60 tons. This will enable global corporations to import cheap foreign goods in "road trains" of the sort until now only seen in places like the Australian outback. Forcing these massive vehicles down British streets will undoubtedly wreck British homes through their vibration and quite possibly kill British people as they are much harder to steer and stop.

The British Government is opposed to the change, which will entail huge costs in strengthening road bridges, widening access ramps and slip roads across the UK road network. But the British Government doesn't govern Britain any more. Brussels does. When this EU regulation comes into force it simply overrules our laws and our parliament. Until and unless we get Britain out of the EU.

Defence Cuts Made to Fund Afghanistan War

THE ROYAL Air Force base at Cottesmore in Rutland will be closed and thousands of defence jobs in the armed forces and the civil service cut to make way for more than £900 million to be spent on helicopters for use in the Afghanistan war.

The BNP has condemned the move as misguided and typically inept. Instead of making British people lose their livelihoods to fund that war, the state should be saving money by simply withdrawing from that conflict.

To make matters worse, the concession that British forces need more helicopters to fight in Afghanistan is an acknowledgement that our soldiers were deployed there without sufficient support in the first place. The final insult to the injury is that the new helicopters will only be available in the 2012/13 financial year - more than three years from now.

In other words, British troops will be exposed to the dangers of insufficient air transport and cover in Afghanistan for another three years, according to the wretched Labour/Tory warmongering plan.

OFFICIAL ESTIMATES PREDICT 74 MILLION UK RESIDENTS WITHIN THE NEXT 20 YEARS

PREDICTIONS THAT Britain's population would be 70 million within 20 years are underestimates, a new projection from the Office for National Statistics has said. Instead, the population is likely to be 74 million within that time period.

The ONS figures have factored in current Third World immigration rates, which it says will boost Britain's population by 12 million well within the next two decades.

According to its calculations of the "highest likely scale of future population growth," Britain's population will reach the 70 million mark in 2023, six years earlier than predicted.

The ONS said its new estimates are based on immigration continuing at current levels and birth rates among new migrants. It said Britain's present population, estimated to be just under 62 million, will rise at a rate of more than half a million every year, reaching 70 million in 2023 and 73.8 million by 2029.

Projected even further, this means that the 100 million mark will be reached by 2071.

Migrationwatch chairman Sir Andrew Green said that the "projections show that the population will climb far into the future unless very tough measures are taken to cut back the massive levels of immigration that Labour has permitted, even encouraged."

According to calculations made by Migrationwatch, foreign immigrants are now arriving at the rate of about 500,000 every year. This translates to nearly one a minute.

A new home must be built every six minutes for new migrants - in a country which is already the most crowded in Europe.

Currently, one British passport is handed out to an immigrant to this country every two minutes. During the first three months of 2009, 54,615 citizenship applications were approved by the Home Office - one every two minutes.

These figures obviously don't include illegal immigration and asylum seekers which would certainly further boost the population increase by millions

The British National Party is the only party that will put a halt to further immigration. In the run up to the general election both Labour and the Tories will no doubt make anti-immigration noises to try and steal a proportion of the growing patriotic vote. Don't be fooled - only the BNP has the guts to do what is needed to save our country from being swamped.

ISLAMIC GRAFFITI ADORNS THE WAR MEMORIAL IN BURTON ON TRENT

THIS IS the scene in Burton on Trent where Islamic graffiti has desecrated the war memorial. The graffiti - which reads 'Islam Will Dominate the World' - is a stark reminder to local residents of the presence of militant Islamic extremism in Britain today.

Whilst British soldiers risk their lives in Afghanistan fighting a war that is meant to combat Islamic terrorists, extremists flourish on our very streets.

The British National Party is appalled at this anti-British sentiment which is an attack on our war heroes - the people who fought and died to keep this nation free and safe. These memorials are sacred places and an attack on them is an attack on the very heart of our British society.

Sadly incidents like this are becoming more commonplace as Labour continue to allow an open door immigration policy and bend over backward to appease minority groups and turn their backs on the law abiding British majority.

YORKSHIRE & THE HUMBER MEP ANDREW BRONS

debates in the European Parliament on what they called 'European values'. I said that free Parliaments might or might not arrive at a consensus after a debate. However, a Parliament that had its values prescribed beforehand was not a free assembly but a constrained soviet bound by democratic centralism.

In a debate, in the last plenary session of the year in Strasbourg, on the European Union list of restricted persons, I warned against treating those on the list as though they were all the same category. Whilst Al Qaida was prepared to wage a terrorist campaign throughout the world, the Taliban's ambitions seemed to be restricted to Afghanistan. I described the Taliban as, 'a thoroughly unpleasant organisation that oppresses women, is hostile to democracy and is rightly hated for killing our servicemen'. The Daily Star, which is sometimes erroneously described as a newspaper, suggested that my words seemed to suggest that I supported the Taliban!

By the same logic the Daily Star should conclude that our lunatic detractors in the UAF and Hate Not Hope are really our supporters!

In the debate on the European Union's policy on the war in Afghanistan, I warned fellow MEPs against believing that the war could be won. There have been three unsuccessful wars there in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. I described their attempt to 'plant the delicate flower of democracy in the inhospitable soil of Afghan tribalism', as naïve. I pointed out that the deep vertical divisions in Afghan society and the placing of tribal loyalty before person judgement would always make Western style democracy an impossible objective.

In a debate in the LIBE Committee on migration, I warned against those who wished to prescribe the use of the term irregular migrants instead of the terms illegal migrant or clandestine migrant. I suggested that MEPs should each feel free to choose their own language in which to conduct debates. I said that George Orwell knew that those who sought to control our language were really trying to control our thoughts.

the expense of their own countries. "Do the sick of the third world not deserve to be treated," I asked.

I pointed out that economic migration was in the interests only of Global Capitalism that wished to exploit the world's population as an undifferentiated proletariat.

In a meeting of the Joint Parliamentary session (of MEPs and members of national Parliaments), in the middle of November, I warned against complacency among those who saw the values of the European Union as those of freedom and democracy. I reminded MEPs and MPs that Belgium had banned one of the most popular political parties the Vlaams Blok, that in Hungary forces of the state were used to launch violent attacks against dissenters and that in many EU states there were criminal law restrictions on non-violent freedom of speech and on heretical opinion. I also warned against those who wished to predicate

IF THERE has been a central theme to all of my interventions, it has been to challenge assumptions in the minds of those who hear my contributions: assumptions about our party; assumptions about core issues such as immigration and the European Union itself; assumptions about ethical and moral choices; and assumptions that have their origins in the chosen vocabulary.

In the beginning of December, there was a debate, in the LIBE Committee with the Swedish Minister for Migration, Tobias Billström, in which he ventured to suggest that economic migration was beneficial (to both the country of origin and the country of destination) and an act of generosity on the part of European countries that would receive these migrants.

I warned that the response among those without work, who see migrants working and those without homes who see migrants housed, would not be so welcoming. I said that an act of generosity involved a sacrifice on the part of the donor but it was not the Swedish Presidency (of the European Union) or MEPs who would make the sacrifices for migration; it was the poor and the dispossessed among the existing populations of member states.

I also pointed out that migration (for health service workers and others) was not beneficial to the country providing the migrants. They have been trained by and at

WHERE WE STAND

CRIME: A crack-down on crime with many more 'Bobbies on the Beat'. Much tougher treatment of criminals, including the return of capital punishment for child killers and terrorists. Zero tolerance for drug-dealers and violent thugs.

IMMIGRATION: An end to immigration and bogus asylum seekers flooding Britain. Use the £billions wasted in foreign aid to fund 'Homeward Bound' schemes to encourage immigrants to return to their land of ethnic origin.

INDUSTRY: British ownership and control of British industry and resources, including the mass media. Protection of British jobs and industry by selective exclusion of foreign manufactured goods from the British market.

HEALTH: We will use the vast sums of money now wasted on funding our membership of the European Union for the restoration of an effective national health service and proactive measures to produce a healthier population in the first place.

EUROPEAN UNION: British withdrawal from the European Union to restore Britain's freedom. We will trade with Europe where it benefits Britain, but want no political ties or monetary union.

EDUCATION: A return to traditional methods of education, with stronger discipline in the classroom and an end to 'trendy' teaching methods which have failed our children so badly.

ENVIRONMENT: A healthy environment for a healthy people - the protection of our countryside. A ban on greenfield-site house building except in exceptional cases of genuine local need, an end to field trials of GM crops, and the restoration of our 200 mile fishing limit.

FAIR PLAY FOR ENGLAND: The setting up of an English Parliament to give England the same right of self-determination within the United Kingdom as enjoyed by Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland.

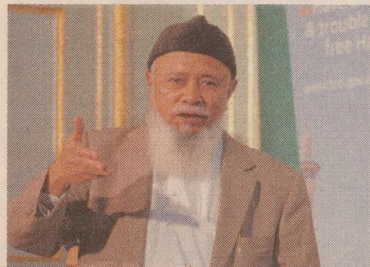

GOVERNMENT & COMMUNITY: The establishment of a government that puts British interests first. A return to healthy moral values and policies aimed at strengthening the family and community. Tough penalties for corruption in public life.

FREEDOM: An major expansion of freedom and democracy to roll back the erosion of our traditional freedoms and truly reflect the wishes of the people. The introduction of referenda and direct democracy.

DEFENCE: An alternative defence strategy based on the principle of armed neutrality. No British blood should be shed in conflicts which do not involve British interests. The restoration of the County Regiment system and the reversal of defence cuts which have weakened our Forces and cost jobs.

REMEMBER! It doesn't matter if you don't agree with us on every last policy. Like all the other democratic political parties, the British National Party includes some members who disagree with one or two policies. Just ask yourself whether you agree with more of our policies than those of Labour, the Tories and the Lib-Dems. Most people do, which is why we are the fastest growing political party in Britain today.

Labour Peer Gave Glowing Reference To Crooks

A leading Labour peer (above) is under fire after giving a glowing character reference for two crooked businessmen who tried to frame innocent motorists for speeding.

Lord Patel of Blackburn, 69 submitted a testimonial to a judge after two wealthy brothers were accused of trying to evade motoring fines by blaming others over a six-year period.

The character reference was used by defence lawyers to try to avert a prison sentence for clothing company bosses Rizwan and Firoz Patel. But the judge at Preston Crown Court jailed Rizwan Patel, 30, for ten months and his brother Firoz, 41, for nine months.

But Lord Patel, the former boss of a clothing manufacturing firm, added: 'I'm sorry and I feel pity for them. They are very nice people - the whole family is very nice.'

ASYLUM SEEKER TO LIVE IN £1.5 MILLION HOME

After almost a year since it was revealed that Toorpakai Saeidi, an Afghan immigrant mother of seven was living in a £1.2 million mansion and claiming £175,000 in benefits every year, the news has come that a Somali, Nasra Warsame and seven of her children are living in a luxurious £1.5 million home - also courtesy of the British taxpayer.

Ms Warsame's luxurious home comes with five storeys, six bedrooms with balconies, three sitting rooms, four bathrooms and a spacious kitchen. It also sports a huge flat screen TV, designer furniture and wall length wardrobes. All this costs the British taxpayer £1600 a week.

Even though the home has six bedrooms, it still isn't enough. Ms Warsame's husband and eighth child live in a separate 2 bedroom apartment, also in London.

Meanwhile in the same week ey mother of two, Stephanie Lewnes her seven-year-old son Cameron and five-month-old daughter Lilly, were quite surprised when Dudley council finally handed keys to her new council home - only to be greeted by live wires hanging from the roof, boarded up windows with glass and piles of rubbish in the garden.

The contrast between these two stories shows just how much regard the liberal elite have for young British mothers like Stephanie Lewnes compared to Somali families like the Warsames. This comparison only proves that immigrants are indeed given priority on the housing waiting list.

British families find themselves put to the back of the housing list, simply because immigrants are fast tracked because they often have large families and are given priority. With projections that the population will grow by 9.3 million in the next 20 years to over 70 million, it's unlikely that smaller British families will be getting council homes any time soon.

Figures have shown since Labour took power, council waiting lists in London have gone up by 87 percent and 95 percent in the South East. Nationally the council waiting lists have gone up by over 50 percent.

However, when faced with these figures it's reassuring to know that the Home Secretary Alan Johnson stated in June, "I do not lay awake at night worrying about the population of 70 million. I'm happy to live in a multicultural society" - reassuring words from a man who at one time considered himself a Marxist and aligned with the extremist Communist Party of Great Britain.

The British National Party will only make social housing available to British people and will make residency in a local area priority when it comes to council house allocation.

Why should British families suffer at the hands of a corrupt government as a result of the failed multicultural social experiment?

The stark reality that foreigners who contribute nothing to the country and who end up in homes worth millions of pounds, will serve as a real blow to the white working class who have been betrayed, forgotten about and ignored by a corrupt party which promised twelve years ago to represent them.

THE SWISS VOTE TO BAN THE BUILDING OF MINARETS

"THE BUILDING of minarets is banned" is now an official sentence in the constitution of Switzerland following that country's landmark referendum. Does it mark the beginning of Europe's fight back against Islamic colonisation?

According to Swiss politician, Daniel Zingg, the man widely credited with launching the Swiss referendum project, "The minarets are spearheads of the Sharia.

"They are signs of territory newly conquered by Islam," Mr Zingg said, adding that the ban means that the "Swiss have solved a problem that has already become seemingly intractable elsewhere, such as in the large cities of England and France.

"It's a well-known fact that first come the minarets, then the muezzins, with their calls to prayer, the burqas and finally Sharia law," he says.

Mr Zingg added this important point, "The Koran gives (people) the mission to Islamise the world, and the Muslims here have no other mission, otherwise they would not be Muslims."

This remarkable clarity and understanding of the mission of Islam - to conquer as much territory as possible for that religion - is a message which the British National Party alone has sounded in Britain for the past several years.

Muslim immigration into Europe has now reached critical levels. Surveys carried out in the aftermath of the Swiss poll showed that 44 percent of Germans and 41 percent of French oppose the construction of minarets.

In addition, 55 percent of all Europeans see Islam as an "intolerant religion," according to the polls.

MP Tried to Claim Cost of Council Tax Court Summons

An MP who sits on the Commons committee that monitors Whitehall spending tried to charge the taxpayer £65 in court costs he had incurred for non-payment of council tax.

Ian Davidson was issued with a summons from Camberwell Green Magistrates' Court in August last year after failing to pay the £839.02 bill.

The summons costs were added to this, and Mr Davidson, the Labour MP for Glasgow South West, submitted an expenses claim for the full amount of £904.02.

However, this was rejected by the Commons fees office, who wrote to the MP in October last year stating "fines and late payment fees do not fall within the remit of this allowance".

Mr Davidson designated a property in London as his second home for expense purposes and reclaimed about £900 per month in mortgage interest.

He also successfully claimed hundreds of pounds for furniture, including a £569 sofa bed which was delivered to his constituency home in Glasgow.

If it wasn't bad enough that Davidson had let his council tax arrears get to the point of a court summons, to try to pay the fine out of public money is the icing on the cake. If you want to send a message to the out-of-touch politicians like Davidson - vote British National Party!

WALES TO GET ITS FIRST SHARIA COURT

THE COLONISATION of Britain by Islam continues unabated with the news that an officially recognised Sharia law court is to be established in Wales.

The proposal to start a Sharia law tribunal in Cardiff will give Wales its first such court. Earlier this year it was revealed that around 85 such Sharia law courts already operate in England, many of them with official sanction and force of law backed up by English courts and enforceable by the state. According to reports, the Sharia Tribunal in Wales is set to be established by the middle of next year.

"What we are trying to do is help the third or fourth generation British Muslims who are growing up to give them the services necessary to make Britain their homeland, rather than saying we actually want to ghettoise ourselves," Shaykh Siddiqi of the Muslim arbitration tribunal was quoted as saying.

That statement, quoted in the media, reveals precisely the intention of Muslims in Britain: to turn this country into their own, complete with foreign legal systems. There is no other word for this but colonisation.

Think tank Civitas, which produced a book on the creeping influence of Sharia law in Britain called Sharia Law or 'One Law for All?' has expressed its opposition to the move in Wales.

Book author Denis MacEoin said: "It is Sharia law that is given the prominent position and this effectively means that British law is shoved to one side.

"All citizens have the right to be judged under a single legal system, and that we didn't bring in the legal system by the back door and that is effectively what is happening at the moment."

The Civitas estimate of 85 Sharia law courts operating in Britain is based on information gathered from a number of sources. A network called the Islamic Sharia Council, run from a converted corner shop in Leyton, operates 13 tribunals in Britain.

The Association of Muslim Lawyers runs another three and there are three other formal councils. The rest are informal councils whose existence has been revealed from online "fatwa" or decree websites.

Some of these fatwa rulings clearly conflict with British law. For instance, one widely held ruling states that a Muslim woman may not marry a non-Muslim man unless he converts, and if she does, her children should be taken away from her.

The British National Party says there should only be one law in Britain - British law!

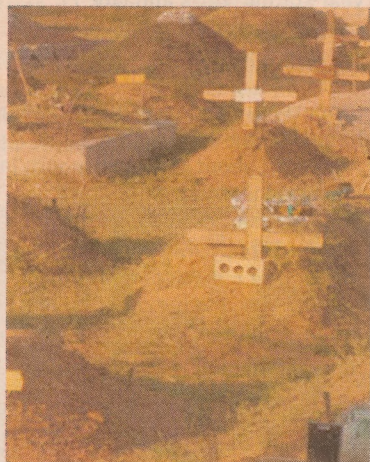

Immigration Increasing AIDS Cases in Britain

IMMIGRATION FROM sub-Saharan Africa has become one of the primary drivers of the HIV/AIDS pandemic, a new survey has revealed.

Research conducted by postgraduate student Betselot Mulugeta has revealed that immigrant men and women from the Ethiopian and Eritrean communities in the West Midlands have "serious misconceptions about the nature of the HIV/AIDS epidemic in the UK."

Newly reported cases of HIV in the UK are higher than ever before. Between 1995 and 2006, the rate of HIV infection among black Africans in the West Midlands increased 100-fold, compared to a two-fold increase among white people, a three-fold increase among black Caribbeans and a six-fold increase among other mixed ethnic groups.

All those figures were obtained from the region's strategic health authority figures.

The new study revealed that the Ethiopian and Eritrean population "are predominantly young and single, tend to live alone and are often sexually active." Apparently their "culture and language restrict the information available to them" and this group "therefore represents a reservoir of HIV infection which is both a concern for the immigrant community itself and the host population."

These "cultural issues" bizarrely include a refusal to discuss sexual issues aimed at "reducing stigma and discrimination of those who are HIV-positive."

Even more bizarrely, it is "considered unacceptable for either partner in a sexual relationship to ask for a condom to be used, because it's thought to suggest the woman is promiscuous or a prostitute, or that there is a lack of trust between them." Sub-Saharan Africa is home to 67 percent of global cases of HIV/AIDS. Given those figures, it borders on insanity to encourage mass immigration from that continent - yet it remains core Labour, Tory and Lib-Dem policy.

PUBLIC SERVICE CUTS OF £3 BILLION PER YEAR

THE BRITISH public have been told to prepare for public service cutbacks of £3 billion per year for the next four years - while the foreign aid budget remains at £8 billion per year and is set to increase exponentially.

According to a pre-budget report issued by the Labour government, some £12 billion will be cut from public spending over four years, meaning a cut of approximately £3 billion each year.

The cuts were announced by Gordon Brown and explained as "efficiency savings" in an attempt to show how the Labour Party intends to tackle Britain's out-of-control budget deficit.

In a speech in central London, Mr Brown said ministers have identified £3 billion in "additional efficiency savings" since the Budget in April. Of that, £1.3 billion will be achieved by streamlining central government. This means that a large number of Government programmes will be abandoned.

The cuts in domestic spending, which will see reduced services to the British taxpaying public, are in marked contrast to the foreign aid budget which continues to climb year on year.

According to official Department for International Development (DFID) figures, the expenditure on foreign aid for the last two years has been just under £20 billion - a significant figure when compared to the latest cuts in domestic services proposed by Mr Brown.

The latest DFID report for 2009 says that the Government's foreign aid budget will "be higher than the 0.56% of national income European target" by 2010/11. This is an average annual increase of 11 percent.

"We will, by next year, have nearly trebled our bilateral and multilateral aid to Africa since 2004," the report states.

The Conservatives have promised to increase the foreign aid budget even further if they are elected to power at the next general election. A special report from the Tory party on the topic said that this money would be "ring fenced" and untouchable no matter what else happens.

In his pre-Budget report speech on Wednesday, Chancellor Alistair Darling is expected to announce that Government borrowing for the year will be in excess of £175 billion.

Amongst cuts expected to be announced are upgrades to the National Health Services IT systems.

Meanwhile, the DFID announced on 27 November that the British taxpayers had just paid over £50 million "to help over 60 of the world's poorest countries access the latest climate research" data, which would "help them understand how best to tackle climate change in the years r's following December's Copenhagen negotiations."

The Climate and Development Knowledge Network, which will receive the money, will "link developing countries with leading climate experts, allowing them to commission and share knowledge on how best to tackle the potentially devastating effects of climate change."

If that was not enough, on 25 November, the DFID gave £6.5 billion to UNICEF to finance a programme to "improve women's life chances and tackle violence a."

against women in South Asia." The money will "establish a new South Asia gender equality fund which will bring together the best policy, research and evidence in South Asia to tackle the root causes of gender inequality across the region."

The British National Party says that all foreign aid must be halted. There are more than enough pressing issues at home which have to be addressed without the already bankrupt British state playing Father Christmas across the world.

TERRORIST ATTEMPT HIGHLIGHTS DANGER OF MASS IMMIGRATION

THE LATEST terrorist attempt to blow up a trans-Atlantic airliner has once again highlighted the twin causes of Islamist terrorism: mass immigration into the First World and European nations' biased foreign policy in the Middle East.

The arrested suspected terrorist, a Nigerian Muslim rejoicing in the name Umar Farouk Abdul Mutallab is a perfect example of the product of these twin evils.

Firstly, Mutallab was a "student" at a college in London. Police are currently searching a number of premises associated with Mutallab in Britain's capital city.

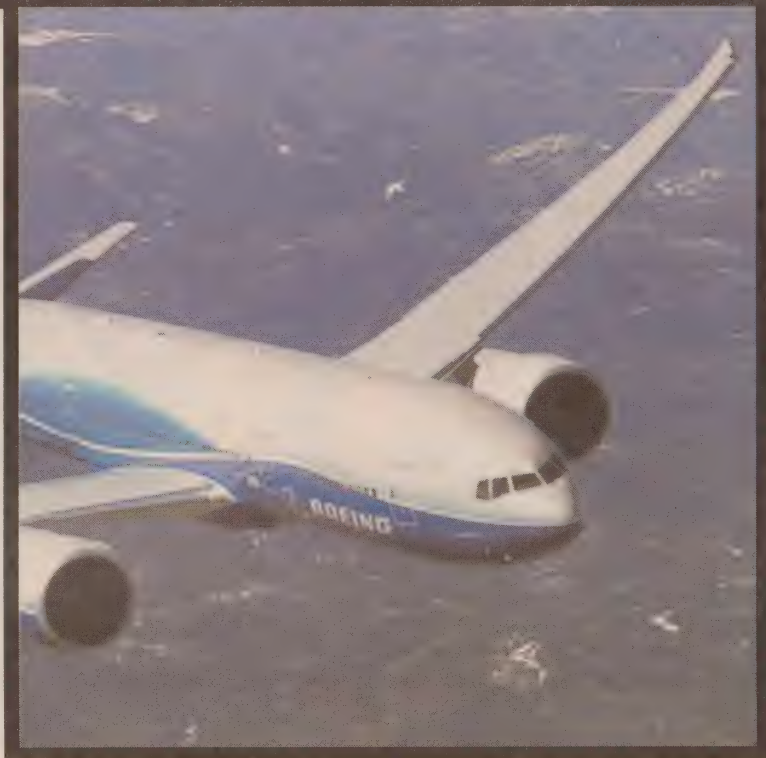

The fact that the 23-year old Nigerian could have obtained a "student" visa despite being registered on an international terrorist suspect watch list, reveals the extent of Britain's "open doors" immigration policy.

Secondly, Mutallab's African origin would not on the face of it, make him a sympathiser with radical Islamic causes.

Nonetheless, his religious affiliation allowed him to spiritually link to affairs in the Middle East which provides much of the motivation for Islamic terrorism in Europe and America.

It was this link to British, American and other European nations' biased foreign policy in the Middle East - which favours Israel above all else - which provided the motivation for not only the 9-11 attacks but many of the other major Islamist terrorist incidents since then.

It is this perception of "the West ganging up against Muslim nations" which allowed, for example, an Egyptian, Mohammed Atta, to lead an attack on the World Trade Centre in New York City, and a Nigerian, Mutallab, to try and blow up an airliner travelling from Amsterdam to Detroit.

Mass Third World immigration into European nations allows the creation of large pools of potential terrorist recruits from which radical Islamists can draw supporters - as has obviously happened with Mutallab. Western nations' biased foreign policies allows Islamists to fan the flames of hatred against European peoples by pointing out to these Muslim colonists how European nations "hate" them.

Until mass Third World immigration into Europe is halted - and reversed - and until Western nations adopt unbiased foreign policies with regard to the Islamic world (and that includes halting all illegal and immoral wars such as those in Iraq and Afghanistan), Islamist terrorism will continue.

The British National Party alone amongst all the political parties understands the real issues and has the willpower to address the root causes of the problem.

The BNP will strike an accord with the Islamic world: in return for a commitment never to interfere in the internal affairs of Muslim nations, the Islamic world will agree to halt its attempts to colonise Europe through immigration and the cradle - and to take back its excess populations.

Only in this way will terrorism from Islamic extremists be halted. It is our moral duty to ensure that this happens.

UNEMPLOYMENT INCREASES WHILE FOREIGN AID JUMPS

Official Government figures have shown that more than £150 million in foreign aid was paid out to Afghanistan, Africa and the Gaza Strip (the latter to pay civil servant salaries) while at home, 625,000 British-born people lost their jobs during the recession.

A report by the Migration Advisory Committee (MAC) showed that while British-born people had lost their jobs, the number of foreign-born workers in employment in Britain increased by 22,000. The MAC report said that the number of British-born workers fell to 25,104,000 in the year to June 2009. At the same time, those born outside the UK increased to 3,730,000.

In a masterfully understated comment, the MAC report said "foreign born employment appeared to be more resilient to the downturn than the UK-born."

Meanwhile, the Department for International Development (DFID) proudly announced at the end of the year that more than £150 million of British taxpayers' money had gone to aid projects in Afghanistan, Africa and the Gaza Strip. Much of the money for Gaza has gone to paying civil servant salaries.

In December, the DFID excitedly announced that it had released £23 million of a £100 million budget for "polio vaccines in Afghanistan." The vaccination technology being used there, the DFID said, is so advanced that it is not even available in Britain.

There it is, in a nutshell. British people are thrown on the dole scrapheap while their tax money is used to keep people in employment in the Gaza Strip.

South Somerset Hold Christmas Function

NEARLY 40 South Somerset British National Party members got together in December for their annual Christmas function in a superb venue in Taunton, reports our South West correspondent.

On the menu, apart from the traditional turkey, was roast pork and beef followed by a Christmas pudding desert.

The branch chairman delivered a short speech on the subject of the Christian meaning of Christmas, something all too often forgotten in this age of unbridled commercialism.

Toasts were made to "Queen and Country" and, of course, to wish everyone a Merry Christmas. On a more political note 2009 has been a good year for the South Somerset branch.

It was a year in which it stood a record number of candidates in the local elections, polled its highest ever voting percentages and saw an increase in its paid-up membership of around 70 percent.

EAST MIDLANDS HOLD BLACK TIE CROMWELL DINNER

MORE THAN 50 Members from the East Midlands and Northampton met in a beautiful and historic part of Leicestershire for a black tie dinner organised by the Cromwell Diners Club. The guest speaker was Richard Barnbrook, British National Party GLA member who gave a rousing after dinner talk.

Councillor Ian Mellor was introduced to the assembled group as the selected MP Candidate for the North West Leicestershire region and was warmly congratulated by Richard and all the other members at the dinner, including Councillors Graham Partner and Wayne McDermott. A Raffle and amusing auction was held after the dinner with Dr David Fairclough as Master Auctioneer. The largest amount of money collected in the auction was for a magnificent pair of Patriotic braces obviously designed for a person with a very full figure!

More than £700 was raised at the event with proceeds going to support the East Midlands forthcoming General Election bid.

WILTSHIRE BNP: DAY OF ACTION IN DEVIZES

WILTSHIRE BRITISH National Party activists were out in force delivering over 2,500 leaflets to the residents of the historic market town of Devizes in Wiltshire.

Devizes is a relatively small market town with a population of around 14,000 people which lies within the Salisbury branch area, reports local contact Stephen Williams.

Activists from Chippenham, Swindon, Corsham and from across north Wiltshire joined members of the Salisbury branch in the leafleting drive in an area that has till now been a Conservative Party stronghold.

The people of Devizes are starting to feel the effects of the economic slump. There are job this losses reported daily and an influx of foreign migrants, all competing for nonexistent work and social housing in this rural community.

A local small business owner, Mr Ian Witheridge, complained, "Why? After Boom-and-Bust Brown has sunk us all into an £830 billion debt hellhole from which it is likely to take years to recover, are we still committed to spend £8 billion in foreign aid to countries like Pakistan and India? The former is a nuclear power and the latter has a well established space programme, unlike the UK.

"The worrying aspect of this is that the Conservative Party plans to double the foreign aid budget if they win the next general election. I think there will be a lot of people around Devizes considering the British National Party at the next round of elections," said Mr Witheridge.

The day's activity was part of the planned programme of joint activities by Wiltshire groups and branches which encompasses the training and development of activists and officials in all aspects of political activism.

"When a new group is established, a senior party member is assigned as a mentor tasked with establishing core competences and setting objectives that meet the requirements of the party's

GLOBAL WARMING CAN'T STOP NORTH EAST ACTIVISTS

WORLD LEADERS attending the Copenhagen summit on climate change and global warming had obviously forgotten to inform Mother Nature as cold weather gripped the Continent and snow-proof clothing was mandatory for the latest leafleting session in the North Durham constituency, reports our North East correspondent.

"Even though it was snowing heavily in Stanley, County Durham, members of the intrepid North Durham Constituency group were out on their general election campaign delivering their No More Loss of British Blood leaflets to the constituents," our correspondent said.

Group organiser Roland Craggs said, "We've been targeting the town of Stanley now for the last few weeks and have received plenty of requests for information packs."

Leading the leafleting team was the BNP's Prospective Parliamentary Candidate for North Durham, Pete Molloy, who was glad to meet and talk to some of the constituents.

"It was good to speak to the constituents and they were glad to hear that the BNP was standing in their constituency in the next general election," Mr Molloy said.

"They told me they have had enough of their Labour MP and the Labour Party and are looking for change. Some of them have applied to join the BNP, but are waiting for the membership to reopen," he added.

STANDING ROOM ONLY AS 150 PACK OUT LATEST LEICESTERSHIRE BNP MEETING

MORE THAN 150 people packed out the latest British National Party meeting in Leicestershire to hear an outstanding array of speakers including Andrew Brons MEP, reports our regional correspondent.

Geoff Dickens, East Midlands regional organiser, opened the meeting and welcomed the attendees, especially the large number of people attending their first BNP meeting.

"He said that there were a huge number of enquiries to follow up and that there were a considerable number of local people waiting to join the party when the new constitution had been ratified.

The meeting also heard from the four local organisers who each outlined the excellent work that BNP councillors were doing and the huge amount of leafleting that was taking place throughout Leicestershire.

Cllr Wayne McDermott, East Midlands election officer, then outlined the plans for the forthcoming general election and said that we would be fighting a minimum of six seats in Leicestershire.

Parish and District Councillor Ian Meller had been chosen as the prospective parliamentary candidate to stand for North West Leicestershire, which is the seat where the party expects to have its best result.

Cllr John Ryde, who is also the prospective parliamentary candidate for Bosworth, called for a boycott of the press. "Why give your hard-earned cash to read lies about yourself, from someone who hates you", he asked the meeting to great applause.

The last speaker was Mr Brons who said that the recent Question Time had been a watershed for the Party and that support had rocketed since then.

Mr Brons went on to tell the meeting that those who control our language also control our thoughts, exactly as portrayed by George Orwell in his novel 1984.

"We must regain control over our language and speak the truth again the dogmas of those who seek to control us," Mr Brons said.

BNP SCOTLAND CAMPAIGNS IN ABERDEEN

BRITISH NATIONAL Party activists in Scotland ended 2009 with a successful leafleting session in the Aberdeen South Constituency area of Torry, reports our Scottish correspondent.

"We handed out hundreds upon hundreds of leaflets and newspapers to the good people of Torry who were very eager to get their hands on our literature," the correspondent said.

Many people were also keen to talk about the problems of their area and were happy to confide in the BNP's Aberdeen South candidate, Susan Ross. "I very much enjoyed talking with the residents of Torry who shared their grievances with me and I give my thanks to the many who voiced their support for the Party," said Mrs Ross.

"Torry is one of the most desperate areas in need of our help and representation. We aim to campaign vigorously in this area in the build-up to next year's General Election," she said.

After the hard day's work, the team retired to a local venue for a post-activity social and discussion at which future campaigns were discussed.

SOUTH TYNESIDE BNP HOLDS FINAL MEETING FOR 2009

DECEMBER SAW the final South Tyneside British National Party meeting for the year, reports our North East correspondent.

The well attended meeting was opened by Adam Woods who urged those present to argue the BNP's case by speaking up when lies and half truths are told about our party.

Organiser Peter Hodgkinson spoke about Labour's failed education policy and showed how the Government's ideology had led to the overall deterioration of education in spite of increased funding. Fund holder Martin Vaughan covered media issues as well as the importance of keeping activity going right up to the local and general elections. He reiterated the need to continue fund raising which will be needed for the elections.

After an excellent buffet, special guest speaker for the evening was Jonathan Bowden. Delighted South Tynesiders gave him a warm welcome after his long journey from Sussex to the North East.

Widely recognised as one of the best speakers in the party, Mr Bowden captivated the audience with his exceptional knowledge on a variety of topics which ranged from the demise of the Empire to the present state of our economy.

Following a well deserved standing ovation the meeting ended on a high note with the audience all rising to sing Jerusalem.

A collection raised what can only be described as a "healthy" amount towards branch funds.

MEDIA LIES

A PLEA to the ordinary indigenous (and that means before the disastrous multiculturalism policies of the Blair/Brown regime) people of our country - of whatever colour.

I am appalled by the gross lies about Nick Griffin and BNP members, spread maliciously and deliberately by the media fat cats and of course so many cheating lying current MPs. They do this to hide their own incompetence and disregard for our own people and peddle their repeated deceit without the democratic right of response.

They all have one thing in common-the fear that "Joe Public" will wake up before next May's elections and see the mass charade being perpetrated against the vast majority of our own people and BNP members like myself, by a cretinous bunch of press editors/owners, TV bosses and so called celebrities who all want their cosy "well heeled" regimes left unchallenged to the detriment of our own electorate. They do not want you to vote BNP as it will threaten their own cosseted existence.

Well there is something that you can do about it next May (at both Parliamentary and local elections) - vote BNP. We put our own people first, including our troops in Afghanistan, not last. That is not racist - most of the leading Western European countries do it! Remember that it is MPs and local councillors who can speak up in both Parliament and in area and Town Hall meetings.

MINARETS

ACCORDING TO Islamic tradition the minarets of a mosque have to be higher than the infidel buildings that surround them.

Build a mosque by the side of a Christian church with a steeple then the minaret has to be higher than the steeple. Of course where they are able Muslims simply buy the church and replace the cross atop the steeple with the Muslim symbol of the crescent moon.

The church bells are replaced by the drone of the call to prayer in Arabic from powerful loudspeakers.

The minaret then is a religious symbol of power and of the will to dominate.

The Koran:

08:40 Fight then against them till strife be at an end, and the religion be all of it Allah's.

61:09 He it is who hath sent his apostle with guidance and the religion of truth, that, though they hate it who join other gods with Allah, He may make it victorious over every other religion.

09:124 Believers! Wage war against such of the infidels as are your neighbours, and let them find you rigorous: and know that Allah is with those who fear him.

33:27 And He gave you their land, and their dwellings, and their wealth, for an heritage- even a land on which ye had never set foot: for the might of Allah is equal to all things.

Where the Muslims become a majority they introduce Islamic Sharia law with all of its cruel punishments.

We must resist in any way that we can the islamification of the West.

Those that fight for civil liberties mistakenly fight for the rights of Muslims, blind to the fact that as soon as Islam is introduced civil liberties will go right out of the window.

When criticized the Muslims always play the role of the innocent discriminated minority that cannot understand why they are being attacked so unjustly. In private they work for and are bound by their religion to work for the spread of Islam by all and any means.

In Iran they lie and cheat and plot, revealing the true face of Islam with all of its ambitions.

DOUBLE STANDARDS

When Nick Griffin appeared on Question Time, he was constantly harassed by the 'Justice' Secretary Jack Straw over his (Nick Griffin's) views and beliefs-in particular Nicks views on the Holocaust and remarks he had made about it in the past.

Jack Straw seemed less enthusiastic to mention his own past views which were so extreme left wing that M15 felt it necessary to keep files on him!

In addition, Jack Straw condemns Nick Griffin for being far right and ultra nationalist-rather odd given that Straw, and the British Foreign secretary David Miliband in particular, are happy to 'do business' with the current Israeli Foreign Minister Avigdor Lieberman who publicly describes himself as far right and ultra nationalist, and who wants to expel the Arabs from Israel.

Double standards? It makes you wonder what Straw, Miliband, and Lieberman have in common with each other.

COCKERMOUTH FLOODS

TOP marks to Nick Griffin for tabling his Written Question to the European Commission regarding what emergency financial assistance, from the funds contributed to the European Union by the British people, will the EU be providing to help those hit by the floods in West Cumbria.

This sort of prompt action from our MEP is what we should expect and hopefully the European Commission will take on board what Nick has said and be forthcoming with the necessary money to help refurbish damaged homes and rebuild the damaged and demolished bridges that have cut the town of Workington in two. Gordon Brown has been making all sorts of promises to those who have lost their homes and businesses here in Cockermouth, but he was very tight-lipped when asked about the Government's misappropriation of money pledged to build local flood defences.

Apparently the Government has been forced to take money from the country's flood defence scheme funds to pay a fine of more than £300 million to the EU because it failed to make payments to British farmers, due under the Common Agricultural Policy (CAP), on time.

Mr. R. Scott,
Cockermouth.

JOIN PEOPLE LIKE YOU IN THE BNP

This is the real face of the British National Party, a family organisation that wants to put British people first. The BNP doesn't 'hate' anyone, we just want to make sure that our own people aren't turned into second class citizens. The British National Party doesn't blame immigrants either - we blame the politicians who have let this country down.

You can join people just like you who want to make a difference. People who feel just the same way about this country and its problems as you do. You'll find that the BNP is made up of people from all walks of life - doctors, teachers, policemen and housewives - united by their love for their country.

There has never been a better time to join up. The British National Party has hundreds of councillors, county councillors, a London Assembly member and two MEPs. The British National Party is a real force in British politics and you can be a part of it!

Mixing The Paints In The Paintbox

I'VE THOUGHT for a long time that there has been a conspiracy in this country to promote the mixed race as being somehow superior to the indigenous folk, and so Channel 4's programme suggesting that being mixed race is best came as no surprise.

It explained how marrying within one's tribe leads to homogeneity where similar parental genes come together in the next generation. Far better it suggested to marry outside the race and have offspring with more diverse genes or heterogeneity.

So where was the evidence to support this claim? Well first we were taken to a Jewish community where inbreeding has led to a genetic mutation causing a disease known as Tay Sachs. No mention of course was made of the fact that the Jews are a highly successful people with an average IQ higher than that of the general European population, so that many Jews would consider the presence of Tay Sachs within their population, and which now can be screened for before birth allowing for a termination, to be a price worth paying.

We were then taken to Brazil where heterogeneity is to be seen everywhere. This it was suggested has led to the perfectly symmetrical faces of the people there. The fact that the rich in Brazil all tended to have pale skins was quickly glossed over as though some kind of aberration. No mention of course was made of the crime levels in Brazil, where feral children are shot dead on the streets, notwithstanding their perfectly symmetrical faces, nor of the drug wars in the favelas where only recently a police helicopter was shot from the skies.

During the war when Sir Hugh Dowding presented Churchill with the draft of his biography, Churchill retorted after reading it that he did not believe in world harmony, nor the deliberate mixing of the races, and he compared the latter to mixing together paints in a paintbox. I'm quite sure Churchill would not alter his opinion today.

ANOTHER MUSLIM PAEDOPHILE GANG UNCOVERED

YET ANOTHER Muslim paedophile gang has been uncovered in the county of Shropshire, local media have reported.

Five Muslims in Shrewsbury have been arrested in connection with a child sex ring involving nine teenage girls. The men are alleged to have been part of a gang who groomed girls aged between 13 and 15 for sex with other men.

Three of the Muslims were named during their appearance in Telford magistrate's court at the end of last week. They were Mohammed Ali Sultan, 23, from Victoria Avenue, in Wellington; Mohammed Younis, 57, and Abdul Rous, 33, both of Kingsland, Arleston, Wellington.

The official charges against the men were listed as "conspiring with others to cause or incite a child to engage in sexual activity between January 1, 2008, and December 7, 2009, in Shrewsbury or elsewhere in the country."

Sultan is also charged with intentionally arranging and facilitating travel for a person carrying out a relevant offence in Telford or elsewhere in the country. Although the men applied for bail, magistrates remanded them in custody until 21 December.

A further two unnamed men also appeared in connection with the gang, charged with "trafficking persons within the UK for sexual exploitation, conspiring with a female of 13 years or over to engage in sexual activity, supplying a Class A drug, and supplying a Class B drug."

The arrests are part of a disturbing and growing trend across Muslim communities in Britain. Last week also saw the court appearance of a similar Muslim paedophile grooming gang in Yorkshire, while nationally there have been at least half a dozen such gangs uncovered within the last 18 months.

The British National Party is the only political party which has dared to point out this growing trend and it is a result of our activity that the matter has reached public consciousness.

In June this year, BNP TV completed a three part series on Muslim grooming of young white girls, featuring interviews with three victim families who have for the first time been prepared to come on camera and warn the rest of the country about what is really going on as a result of mass immigration to this country.

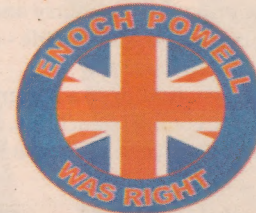

Introduced by Nick Griffin, the harrowing videos provide an insight into the torment suffered by the families of this insidious crime. Mr Griffin points out that anger should not be directed against the immigrants, but at the police and authorities who have created the problem in the first place, and simply cover up and lie about its existence.
